

Filing a Crime Victim Appeal

What is the BIIA?

The Board of Industrial Insurance Appeals (BIIA) is a state agency that is independent from the Department of Labor and Industries (L&I). The BIIA hears appeals from decisions made by L&I in several areas, including:

- Industrial insurance (workers' compensation)
- Safety citations under the Washington Industrial Safety and Health Act (WISHA)
- Employer premium assessments
- Crime victim compensation'

Crime Victim Claims

A claim for crime victim compensation begins with an application for benefits filed with L&I. If you disagree with a decision made by L&I, you should do one of the following:

- File a protest and request for reconsideration with L&I

OR

- File an appeal with the BIIA

Do not file a protest with L&I if you are filing an appeal with the BIIA.

Crime Victim Appeals

You must file an appeal within 90 days of the date you receive L&I's decision. Your appeal should include:

- Your name and address
- L&I claim number
- Date of the L&I decision being appealed
- County in which you would like proceedings to be held
- What you are asking for
